

CASH Humane Stunners

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SAFE OPERATION

Do not under any circumstances attempt to handle or operate the CASH stunner before reading and fully understanding the manufacturer's instructions.

- ▶ When handling these stunners, the same precautions must be taken as with any other firearm – the muzzle of the stunner must at all times be kept pointing away from, and at a distance from, any part of your own or any other person's body.
- ▶ Refer to the manufacturer's instructions for the correct loading procedure.
- ▶ Refer to the Product Data Sheet for the selection of the proper powerload for the specific animals.
- ▶ Once the stunner has been loaded, ensure that the mechanism is placed in the "safe" position until an animal is ready to be stunned.
- ▶ Never leave a loaded stunner unattended.
- ▶ At the end of the operational day, the stunner must be properly cleaned in accordance to the manufacturer's instructions and returned to the person appointed to carry out the daily cleaning procedure.
- ▶ Any faults in the operation of the stunner should be reported immediately to the person responsible for maintenance and the stunner taken out of service until the fault has been rectified.
- ▶ In the unlikely case of a misfire do not open the stunner breech for 30 seconds

Only the correct grade of CASH powerloads bearing the "AS" or "E" headmark should be used in the CASH stunners. Where powerloads other than these are used, the manufacturers will not accept responsibility for:

- 1 The safety of the Operator.
- 2 The humaneness of the stun.
- 3 The correct operation of the stunner.
- 4 The premature failure of parts.

Please note: It is a condition of Accles & Shelvoke's Product Liability Insurance that only CASH powerloads, in CASH cartons and bearing "AS" or "E" headmarks must be used in the CASH stunners. It follows, therefore, that no liability whatsoever can be accepted for any claim, including for injury, should any other brand of powerload be used.
